

Interior View of St. Peters Catholic Church
Harpers Ferry, W. Va.

St. Peters is a fine example of Neo-Gothic Architecture and has a beautifully carved scene of the last supper done in Italian marble under the main alter. St. Peters was used as a hospital aid station during the Civil War. This beautiful church with its stained glass windows was built in 1830 and rebuilt in 1896.

50
1000

PLACE
STAMP
HERE

POST CARD

Address

Published by Kelley's Studio, 202 N Potomac St., Hagerstown, Md. 21740

Color by Frank D. Kelley

ICS-107007